A Message from the HONORARY CHAIRMAN

Stephen F. Skrivanos
2021 JA Laureate

It is my honor to serve as chairman for the 2023 Junior Achievement, Business Hall of Fame, Laureate Induction Dinner. I am pleased that you have joined me as we recognize our four inductees: John E Atkins, Christopher M. Kinsey, Glenn V. Kinsey, and Terry E. Moore. Your presence tonight honors our distinguished Laureates, and importantly, endorses the mission of Junior Achievement.

Junior Achievement provides a foundation for our youth in the areas of financial literacy, work readiness, and entrepreneurship. Located in over 100 countries throughout the world, it is the largest organization dedicated to providing young people the skills to make smart choices in their academic and economic pursuits. Studies have consistently shown that even well-informed parents often feel inadequate to discuss money and economics with their children and, in a world where our financial lives are becoming more complicated and opportunities to spend money outnumber the informational sources to manage it, JA is bridging this critical and ever widening gap.

Our corporate and community volunteers deliver relevant, hands-on experience which connects real-life business experiences to the education of our impressionable youth. The students who benefit from the JA program learn life skills to equip them with the tools necessary to turn their dreams into reality, as they become productive citizens in our rapidly evolving workforce.

With the help from of all of the supporters of Junior Achievement who are here tonight to honor our outstanding slate of Laureates, the proceeds from this dinner will provide 20% of the annual program budget, which is a tremendous return on your investment.

With your generosity and steadfast commitment to today's youth, you are changing lives and advancing our community's future. Thank you again for your support.

Stephen F. Skrivanos

A Message from the CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

It is my honor to serve as chairman of the Junior Achievement of North Louisiana, Board of Directors. I, along with the members of the board join the JA Laureates in welcoming this year's JA Laureate Inductees; John E. Atkins, Christopher M. Kinsey, Glenn V. Kinsey, and Terry E. Moore.

Junior Achievement's proven lessons in financial literacy, work and readiness, and entrepreneurship are shown to positively impact the lives of young people. These lessons align with national and state educational standards and are delivered to millions of students across the country with the help of our education partners and volunteers from the local community.

Research shows that JA Alumni are more likely to have a college degree, feel confident managing money, have career success, and have started a business as an adult. Junior Achievement prepares the youth of our community by providing contextual education in the areas of financial literacy, work and career readiness, and entrepreneurship. JA operates in 103 areas in the United States and 100+ countries throughout the world and is the largest organization dedicated to giving young people the knowledge and skills they need to plan for their futures and make smart academic and economic choices.

Many parents do not feel qualified to talk to their children about money and are unable to help them prepare for the world of work. Our corporate and community volunteers deliver relevant, hands-on lessons which connects classroom learning to life outside the classroom and helps students understand the important role education plays in their future success. JA students are inspired and prepared with the tools they need to change their dreams into reality and to succeed in whatever the global economy brings. Through Junior Achievement, we can build a world in which young people have the mindset and skillset to build thriving communities. By advocating for experiential learning and nurturing partnerships with schools and like-minded organizations, we envision a world where no student is left behind. In other words, OUR NAME IS OUR PROMISE!

I have been involved with Junior Achievement for many years, both in the classroom and with special programs. The exposure to JA programs teaches students the importance of setting goals; short, medium, and long-term, which when applied, guides them to a successful future. Annually, to support Junior Achievement programs in our community, three exemplary citizens are selected to be inducted into the JA Business Hall of Fame. The funds from tonight's event are used for JA programs in area K-12 classrooms. Thank you for your commitment to Junior Achievement. Together, we can empower young people to own their economic success!

BUSINESS Hall of Fame

John E. Atkins was raised in Shreveport, where he attended Southfield School and graduated as Salutatorian of his high school class in 1983. After graduation, John entered Washington & Lee University, where he studied geology, and played on the university's Rugby Football Team, serving as Captain his Senior year. Upon graduating Magna Cum Laude from W&L in 1987, John enrolled in the Graduate School of Geological Sciences at the University of Texas, where he studied Depositional Systems and was awarded a master's degree in Geological Sciences in 1989.

John was hired by Conoco as a Geophysicist, where he utilized three-dimensional seismic surveys to search for subsurface oil and gas deposits. After four years as a geophysicist, John elected to augment his business and management skills by enrolling in the Kellogg Graduate School of Management at Northwestern University in Evanston, IL.

At Northwestern, John made a conscious effort to broaden his skills beyond the narrow technical field of Geophysics. He triple-majored in Finance, Management Strategy and Organizational Behavior, while also playing an active role on the Kellogg Rugby Football Team – a team which won the MBA National Tournament in 1995.

Following Kellogg, John spent seven years as a Management Consultant – primarily with McKinsey & Company. While at McKinsey, John travelled the globe working with multinational energy companies to solve a variety of strategic, operational, and organizational challenges. Management Consulting was both demanding and rewarding, but as John approached the age of 40, he decided to return to Shreveport and seek an opportunity in his hometown.

In Shreveport, John joined forces with Mark Morgan and Ed Crawford in 2004 to launch Louisiana Timber Partners, LLC (LTP). The LTP Team recognized that the ownership structure of US timberlands was rapidly evolving, and they moved quickly to acquire numerous tracts of timberland on behalf of their Limited Partners. Since its inception, LTP has bought and sold over 100,000 acres of timberland.

While John remains active at LTP, in 2006 he joined his cousin, Ed Crawford, on the management team of Atco Investment Company LLC, a diversified asset management company. While John shares responsibility for all aspects of the Atco portfolio, his primary areas of focus are Oil & Gas and other Alternative Assets.

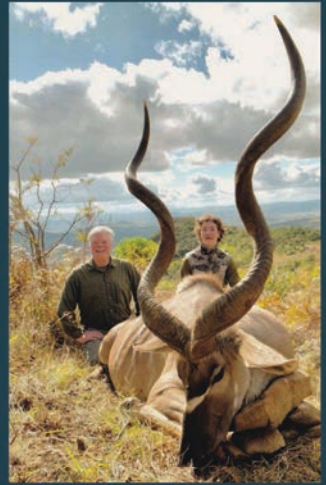

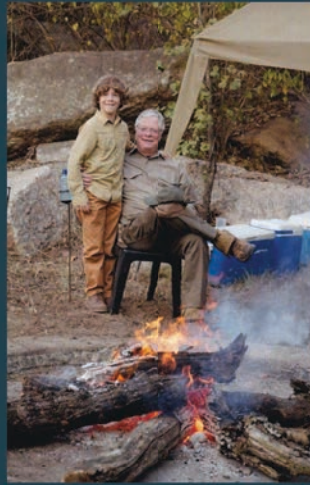

Since returning home, John has been involved in numerous civic organizations. He is currently serving his second 4-year term on the Caddo Parish Commission. In addition, John is a Civic Leader for the Air Force Global Strike Command, serves as the Chairman of Barksdale Forward, and is a Member of the Board of Trustees of Centenary College of Louisiana.

John is happily married to Lindsay Holeman Atkins, and they are the proud parents of Vesuvius, their Doberman Pinscher.

BUSINESS Hall of Fame

Christopher M. Kinsey
Kinsey Interests, Inc.

Chris Kinsey is a Shreveport native who grew up in the Ark-La-Tex and decided to return and stay after the conclusion of an eleven-year educational journey. During his formative years, Chris was active in a local Boy Scout Troop that provided a constructive outlet for his interest in exploring, camping, and the outdoors.

When it was time for high school, Chris attended Culver Military Academy in northern Indiana followed by a B.S. degree in business from Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas. During those high school and college years, the learning didn't always come from a book. There were on-the-job vocational skills acquired through summer jobs as a roustabout in the oil fields of central Louisiana as well as offshore work in the Gulf of Mexico. After a short stint working for an oil and gas company in east Texas, Chris attended LSU in Baton Rouge for an MBA and finally finished his education as a graduate of the OPM program at Harvard Business School.

No matter the path taken, the direction was always consistent, and the goal was to obtain a solid business foundation with an emphasis on entrepreneurial studies and leadership training.

Chris' father, Norman Kinsey, was a Jr. Achievement Laureate in 2000 and together with his mother, Peggy, raised Chris and his three siblings in a household that placed a strong emphasis on hard work and personal responsibility.

After his return to Shreveport in 1979, Chris joined his father and brother, Glenn, at Kinsey Interests, Inc. Although the company's initial base was built on oil and gas production, the family ultimately developed a diversified business plan based upon a variety of investments ranging from commercial real estate and timber to private equity and venture capital.

Today, Kinsey Interests is proud to say that they have invested in companies that have created over 5000 local jobs throughout the Ark-La-Tex as well as 5,000 international jobs.

Chris' parents always demonstrated a strong sense of civic commitment and through their encouragement and example, Chris became involved in numerous local, state, and national organizations. Most notably serving as state chairman for the Louisiana Association of Business and Industry, The Louisiana Nature Conservancy, Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Foundation and the Council for a Better Louisiana. Locally, he served as board chair for the Norwela Council of the Boy Scouts of America and the Metropolitan YMCA.

His strong belief in the empowerment of education led to his board service as a trustee for his alma mater, Trinity University where he co-founded their program of entrepreneurial excellence.

In 2005, Chris married the former Judy Mayer, and today they are the proud parents of Austin Lewis Kinsey.

There are numerous hobbies and outdoor activities that have kept Chris busy, but there was always a special emphasis on international travel, hunting, and aviation.

We are so happy to celebrate you, and all the hard work from Junior Achievement. Thank you for your example in how to show up for the community and build up the next generation. We continue to learn from your generosity and kindness. We are beyond proud to celebrate your accomplishments.

*With love
-Your Family*

Glenn V. Kinsey 2023 Junior Achievement Laureate

2023

BUSINESS Hall of Fame

Glenn Kinsey is a 3rd generation Kinsey in Shreveport and what today is Kinsey Interests. Norman Kinsey Sr. migrated to Shreveport from Elwood, IN. In 1919 after serving in WWI. Glenn's father, Norman Kinsey Jr, joined his father after serving in WWII.

Glenn's first paycheck from Kinsey Interests came in the summer of 1972 as he worked as a roustabout in the oil patch. He spent subsequent summers working on Transco Energy's pipeline in S. Louisiana and Georgia. He finally got a summer job in air conditioning as a production intern at KSLA.

Glenn's early formation outside of his parents came from Boy scouting. Scoutmaster Ken Finch and the other fathers around Troop 18 were tremendous mentors. This education in values and self-confidence was followed by 4 years at Culver Military Academy. The Culver experience expanded his moral foundation and taught him leadership by example. At Culver, Glenn was a member of the Black Horse Troop. He rode in the 1973 Presidential Inaugural Parade and competed at the Jr Olympics in Show Jumping. From Culver, he matriculated to Southern Methodist University where he earned a BBA in business and a BFA in broadcast film. After college, he sold radio advertising in the D/FW market.

In 1980, at age 25, he moved back to Shreveport to join the Family office. There he learned the meaning of financial risk as the '80s were not kind to the oil and gas business. Asset diversification began in earnest. Today energy represents about 25% of the asset base, and another 25% is private equity. Witnessing human ingenuity, grit, and hard work is amazing. That's why I think the "JA Trust Your Crazy Idea Challenge" is a great program.

One of the lessons learned from his parents was service to others. Glenn is on the boards of the Community Foundation and is its' past chairman, Public Affairs Research Council, Advisor to the Zita Trust, Committee of 100, Knight Commander of the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulcher. His past Board service includes chairman LETA, Boy Scout Norwela Council, Goodwill Industries, President N. Shreveport Business Assoc. Shreveport Little Theater, Diocese of Shreveport, and St Joseph finance councils. He is a graduate of Leadership Louisiana and Leadership Shreveport. He is a member of St Joseph Catholic Church.

His life partner for the past 37 years is Ellen Sheridan Kinsey. Together they have 5 beautiful daughters. Each one is as different and brilliant as the stars. The youngest is Downs. She has been frightening, amazing, amusing, and humbling. Dr Ellen deserves credit for backing off her dental practice to be with the girls. All kids deserve parents /mentors for support and JA provides that.

provides practical information about the need for employees who can meet the demands of the 21st century job market. Students will understand the skills, especially in science, technology, engineering, and math, necessary to achieve future success.

Too often we underestimate the power of a touch, a smile, a kind word, a listening ear, an honest compliment, or the smallest act of caring, all of which have the potential to turn a life around.

JA High School Heroes®

Equips students with the knowledge required to get and keep a job in high-growth industries. Students will explore the crucial workplace skills employers seek but often find lacking in young employees. Students also learn about valuable tools to find that perfect job, including resumes, cover letters, and interviewing techniques.

JA Job Shadow™

JA Empower: A Work Readiness Initiative

Prepares students for a visit to a professional workplace. After the site visit, students gather with community leaders for the JA Empower: Student & Mentor Lunch. Following a lively exercise in introductions and shaking hands and interview etiquette, roundtable discussions are used to teach students to hone their critical thinking, creativity, communication, and collaboration skills to complete worksheets with their mentors. They explore needs and wants, ethics in business, resume building and interview skills. Students leave with a clearer understanding of how classroom learning connects to life outside of the classroom and gain an increased understanding of the importance of staying in school.

JA Take Stock In Your Future®

Introduces students to the stock market. This program may include two components: a classroom curriculum, and for many participants, the JA Stock Market Challenge competition event. Five sessions introduce students to basic concepts about how the stock market works and the impact of current events on the stock market. The program includes self-guided extension activities that engage students in deeper learning about the stock market and investing.
